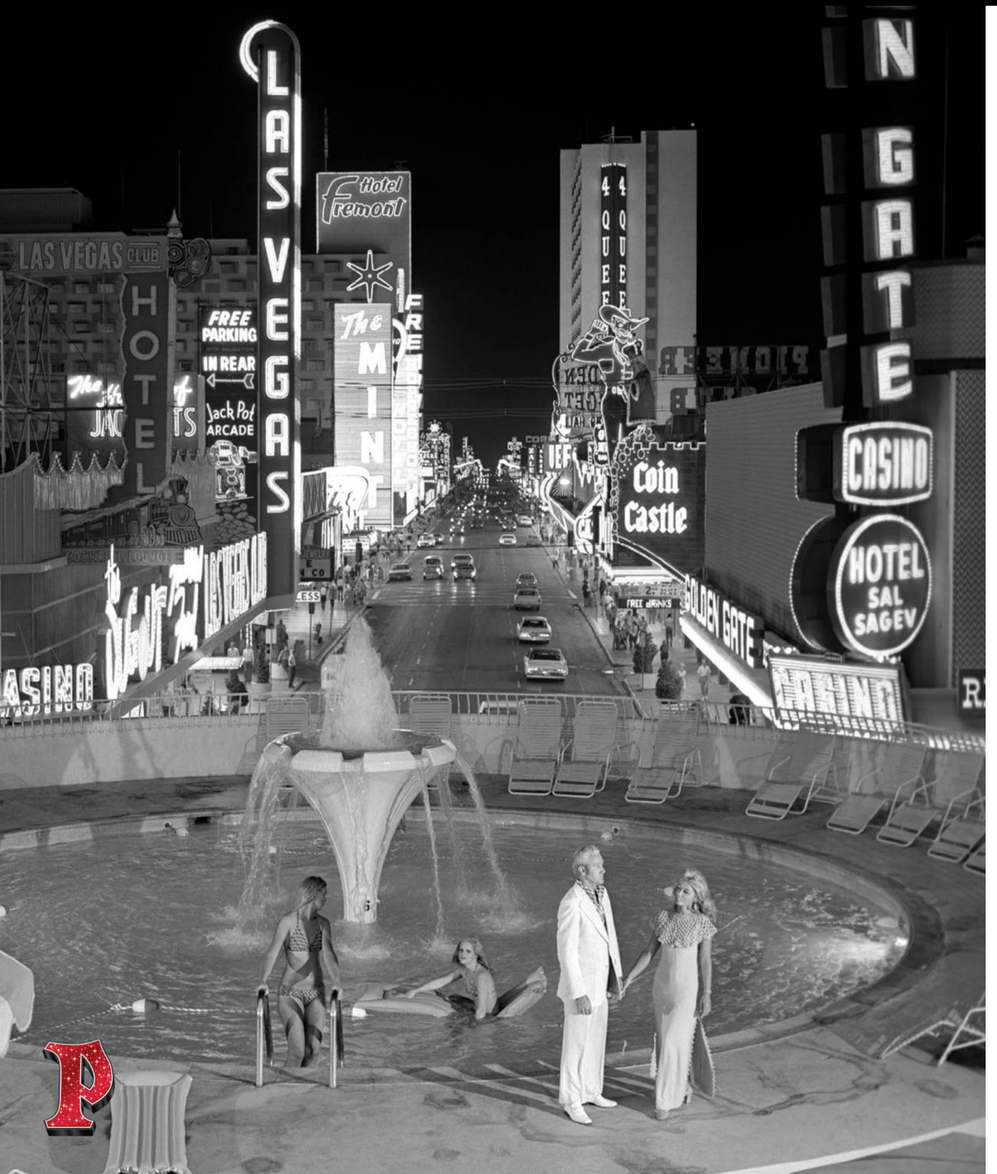
Welcome TO THE Plaza



HOTEL • CASINO • BINGO

The Plaza Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas opened on July 2, 1971, originally as the Union Plaza Hotel & Casino, located on the site of the former Union Pacific Railroad Depot in downtown Las Vegas. It quickly became a prominent part of the city's growing downtown area, featuring a large casino, hotel rooms, and entertainment options.

In the 1980s, the hotel underwent a rebranding and was renamed The Plaza Hotel & Casino. It played a key role in the development of Fremont Street and the downtown district, becoming an iconic landmark of old-school Las Vegas.

Throughout the 1990s and early 2000s, the Plaza underwent various renovations to modernize its offerings, including upgrading its rooms and casino floor. In the 2010s, new owners invested in a significant renovation that updated the hotel's design while retaining its retro charm. The Plaza also added modern amenities like rooftop pickleball courts and improved dining and entertainment options.

Today, The Plaza is a popular destination for both nostalgic fans of vintage Las Vegas and new visitors seeking a vibrant experience in downtown Las Vegas. It remains a key part of the city's cultural and historical identity.
